

Voltree Power and Bureau of Land Management Team Collaboration

May 2008

Voltree Power met with teams from both the Bureau of Land Management and the USDA Forest Service to coordinate the final stages of prototype development for software customization and integration with the agency's RAWS (Remote Automated Weather Stations).

